The Honorable Pedro Calamandrie, Dean
Florence Law School
Florence, Italy

Dear Senor Calamandrie:

Since the matter of opening some closed Adventist churches in Italy was decided with such a striking victory for the cause of liberty under your skilled leadership and counseling, I have wanted to write you, in the hope that you would contribute to LIBERTY: A Magazine of Religious Freedom an article on the situation in Italy. I believe that recent developments following the appointment of the new Constitutional Court in your country has given us a very appealing subject for discussion. I am enclosing herewith a tear sheet from TIME magazine for 25 June discussing this, and indicating why I have become particularly interested just now.

All of us here would deeply appreciate it if you would find the time to write for us on the Italian situation in LIBERTY: A Magazine of Religious Freedom, a quarterly journal. We reach about 175,000 subscribers of all faiths in the United States, besides what international circulation there is. The subscription list includes statesmen, national and provincial legislators, Judges, lawyers, educators, clergymen, as well as a general reading public.

Ordinarily we like an article for LIBERTY to run about 1800 words, but we would be glad to allot more space for your article. We do not wish to suggest a date for you, but we have deadlines at 1 October, 1 January, and would be very happy if we could have your article going to press in October.

Since our journal is on somewhat of a subsidy basis, we are not in the position to remunerate in a commercial sense those who contribute their articles, but we would be very happy to provide an honorarium of $50.00 as an expression of appreciation to you. We sincerely hope that you will find time to favor us in this matter.

Very sincerely yours,
