Dear Professor Lehmannsdorf:

I am projecting the publisher to send you a copy of my book which has just appeared entitled "Civil Procedure of the Trial Court in Historical Perspective". If you will be good enough, I would ask you to replace the card which it contains with that which is now enclosed.

I have been having a rather bad time since I wrote you last. In the early part of last year I underwent a major operation, necessary from which has been my abode. But I did manage to get my books through the press, and now, I think, I am gradually getting back to normal health. I have fragmentarily from time to time about your various activities and have seen your essays in the "Relevant" and "Conclude" volumes, as also that appearing in the "Relevant" and "Conclude" volumes, in honor of James Lehmannsdorf.

Respectfully,
Please present the affectionate regards of my wife and myself to Regina Lalamandri whose generous hospitality we shall always have occasion to remember.

With very good wish I am

Yours sincerely

Robert Wynne Miller
